Catholic League Holds Games. The Catholic Athletic League, composed of a hig string of clubs in New York and Brook-

a hig string of clubs in New York and Brooklyn, held its annual athletic meet at the Pastime A. C. grounds vesterday and the boys of the various associations had a galatime. Fourteen events composed the programme and for every context there were big fields. Father Sullivan of St. Ann's, the "gibletic poggerth" was in his glory, and not alone did he egg his own boys to their best efforts in the runs and jumps, but he kept the others in order. One of the best races of the day was the quarter mile scratch. Bowes of the Xavier C. C. was leading along the backstretch and looking like a winner when Loe of the Annunciation came along with a wet asil and collared him as he rounded for home. It was a stirring sprint to the worsted, but Lee managed to win by a foot. Yesterday's meet was the second of the three arranged for to decide the point champlonship.

Orienta Back in Port.

The steam yacht Orients arrived in port yesterday from Colon and Havana via wil-mington, after an absence of twelve months in Ceptral American waters. She was built by Lewis Nivon for the late E. R. Ladew, a well known yachtsman. For ten months she had been employed by the new Republic of Pan-ama as a revenue cutter in the harbor of Colon and vicinity. The Orienta will go into the Morris dry dock for an overhauling.

Reacts Ten thaustin Spent in Watting Pless trace-tantinent former trip det a American fresert-anomed to offen Parcy F Magazgel and Equit F. Passart completed contents afternoon the first They started from this ever at 5 o'abselt to the morning of August 19 last year, and pasterilay afternoon the ofometer on their our hart registered 11,715 miles when the tenrists were met by a velociting party eent to Portland, Ore, then to San Prancisos, and had originally hoped to be ole in this city for the automobile show get January, but the heavy mow encounprod prevented this. Their route led them om here to Buttale and from there through Pennsylvania, Onio, Indiana, Illinoia, Iowa and Nebrasia to Omaha from where they confed to Portland through Wyoming, Maho and Oregon. From Portland they made the journey down the Pacific const m San Francisco. The return trip was made through California, Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado back to Omaha, from where they retraced their way over the foute used going Wost.

Rains which covered fords with nine or ten feet of water delayed the pair in Wyoming after they had gone that far on the western half of their 'rip without serious hindranes They started again before treighters or emigrant parties would venare out and had to use shovels constantly o make a road for their car. Once they nade a bridge of two railroad ties across clay canon fifteen feet deep and five eet wide when a slip of a few inches either way would have finished their trip then and there through the wrecking of the car. The windlass on the machine was frequently used to haul them up the almost perpendicplar sides of clay guiches. Through the Cascade Mountains and western Oregon the pair travelled over a trail that had been mpassable to wagons for weeks. For much of the way they had to chop a road through dense woods where logs had fallen across the trail and had to build makeshift bridges over streams too deep with melted snow to be forded. For one stretch of three days they were without food, as their provisions had been exhausted.

Early in December they started to cross the great American desert, which had heretofore proved too severe a task for an automobile. When they drove into Peach Springs, Ariz., the natives gathered curiously around the machnie, as there had been so many unsuccessful attempts made to reach there by automobilists. One Friday they travelled 89 miles through a desert sandstorm which was so severe that the sun was completely hidden at noon and the plain were dark as night. For several days they were lost in the mountains of Arizona and finally drove into Winslow, with a cowboy as guide. Christmas Day was spent in hauling the car out of Padre Cañon, the windlass being the only means by which they could hoist it up the walls of lava rock. It was then that Megargel reluctantly gave up all hope of reaching New York for the automobile show, because the snow was so deep that progress was almost impossible. For the last three weeks of January the car was buried in the quicksands of the Rio Pureco River. The snow on the mountains was melted by a warm spell and the river became a torrent which washed away the quicksands and with the aid of Navajo and Apache Indians the car was hauled to solid ground, Indian ponies pulling it out with ropes on January 29. The motor and other machinery was taken apart and cleaned, the journey being resumed after fresh supplies were secured.

Their car was a 16 horse-power Reo touring car, which weighed 2,750 pounds with its two passengers and full supplies aboard. In districts where hotels were few and far arart they carried 100 pounds of provisions. The car had two small signs on each side of the tonneau which read, "New York to San Francisco and return," and each of the tonneau doors bore the legend "Reo Mountaineer, of New York." Yesterday the car had a spade, a water pail, a gasolene can, and Winchester rifle in a holster in addition to its regular equipment of lamps and a big searchlight. Megargel is a member of the touring committee of the American Motor League, and had a motor league emblem on the front of his radiator. The third pair of tires were put on the front wheels at Chicago a few days ago, and four pairs of tires were used on the rear wheels. In the sparsely settled parts of the West each man carried a revolver in a holster, but they never needed either revolvers or rifle to protect themselves. They shot twenty coyotes, and Megargel got one shot at a bear but didn't hurt it much as it was more than yards away scrambling up a moun-

The largest amount of gasolene they eve carried was thirty-nine gallons, which was carried for the trip over Mount Hood in Oregon, which was the first time it had carried for the trip over Mount Hood in Oregon, which was the first time it had ever been crossed by an automobile. Much of the trouble they had was from running out of gasolene. They had two sealed emergency cans under the tonneau seat, but one time when they expected to use these cans they found them empty from very small holes. On one occasion Megarge made a thirteen mile trip on a railroad hand car for gasolene, and the man who took the hand, car back ran off the track and broke his leg. In Burns, Ore., Megargel had to pay $1 a gallon for fifteen gallons of gasolene and another time he paid $1.75 for the only gallon of gasolene there was in a small village in New Mexico. Their hardest times were encountered in crossing Arizona and New Mexico, which took more time than all the rest of the journey. Megargel said the roads in California and Colorado were surprisingly good. They did not have to watch their belongings except in the cities, where souvenir hunters fornia and Colorado were surprisingly good. They did not have to watch their belongings except in the cities, where souvenir hunters annexed all sorts of things, from gloves to small pieces of a broken mud guard, each man needing a dozen pairs of gloves on the trip. The tonneau was fixed up for sleeping quarters, but was used only one night as it was too cold. After that they slept between logs with a fire at one end to keep wolves away and in the forests they put other logs across the two on each side to protect them from cougars, which they feared might spring down upon them from eared might spring down upon them from

They wore leather suits all the time and lost several leather coats, "to souvenir hunters," Megargel thinks. Megargel was born in Scranton, Pa., thirty years ago, and made a trip from here to the Portland Exposition last May in forty-five days. Fassett lives in Lansing, Mich., and acted as his mechanic. He is about the same age as Megargel. Both of them said that, beyond feeling tired, they were none the worse for their journey and each one gained ten pounds in weight since leaving here last ten pounds in weight since leaving here last August. They had expected to be held up when coming through Pennsylvania on theereturn trip because they had no license tag of that State, but were not bothered. The New York license tag, No. 17978, was carried throughout the entire journey. Megargel says they were chased by Indians once, appurently because he had sounded his siren horn, but the car outraced the Indian ponies. He found dozens of letters at his hotel containing inquiries about his trip from men who contemplated making cross-continental journeys. One query was from a young New Zealander, now in Buffalo, who proposes going to San Francisco ten pounds in weight since leaving he falo, who proposes going to San Francisco on a motorcycle. He wanted to know about facilities for obtaining gasolene and asked if he could ford rivers on his motor-

Keene's Saitot and superman coupled at 3 to 5, and too's Ball well piaved at 5. J. Jones lost no time in taking water Pearl to the front for a bree'ing gallop all the way to the wire, where he nad an advantage of a length and a half in 1.0. W. H. Daniel, 20 to 1, was the runnerup to the head of the stretch, where he backed up. Then the Keene pair hooked up for a hot duel for the place, italiot taking it by a nose, with Superman two lengths before Saracinesca, 12 to 1.

The form players received a hard blow when Willie Shield's Balzac, 13 to 10 favorite in the Greater New York Steeplochase, at about two and a half miles, fell at the second jump, burning up a fortune. After that the race was a joke. T. Hitchcock, Jr.'s Paul Jones, coupled with The Claimant at 7 to 5, was the only one to stand up. He came home alone a quarter of a mile in front of Fallaheen, 6 to 1, who fell but was caught and remounted by kiodrock. The same thing happened to The Claimant, who got third money, the same distance back. The time was 4.00.

With the top weights, Lady Amelia and Hamburg Belle scratched, the handicap at about six furious proved an easy victory for Alex Shieldis's Italifax, who closed an equal favorite with Nannie Hodge at 3. Shaw made all the pace with Halifax, who won easily by a length in 1:10 2-5. Bohemia, 15 to 1, got up in time to nail the place from H. P. Whitney's Prince Hamburg, 8 to 1. The latter was three parts of a length before Handzarra, 10 to 1, who was weakly handled. Nannie Hodge, with Miller up, got nothing, as she was shut off early.

Edith James, backed down to 9 to 5, came from behind in the stretch and won the first race, for platers, at a mile and a sixteenth by hall a length in 1:491-5. Willie Shields's Reidmoore, a 30 to 1 shot, came with a rush at the end and beat Benevolent, 8 to 5 favorite, by the same margin. Lady Valentine, 30 to 1, made the running for seven furlongs but stopped.

Gargantua, backed from 4 down to 5 to 8 favorite.

David Gideon put over a good thing in the Belle of Brighton, 4 to 1, who took the last race, for maiden two-year-olds, five furlongs, after leading all the way. She passed the judges a length and a half before Russell T., 3 to 1. WH. Snyder's Garters, 2 to 1 favorite, who met with some hard luck, ran third, beaten three parts of a length. The race was run in 1:02 2-5. Five lavorites were beaten, but all of the winners were heavity backed, the ring breaking about even on the day. The attendance was easily 25,000.

RICHARD DWYRR WILL DO THE STARTING AT BRIGHTON.

Tourist Hands Agreed Mare Country at the Beach-Latter Not Wanted by Management - Neuromore Highly Protect - Protect State Winners

Richard Devine, the familie Western states, will handle the harrier as Brighton Beach track during the coining minimer and fell meatings. C. d. Pitegepald, president of the Brighton Boson Bastos Association, made this official appointmental as the trace-one trace contests. The Pitegerald said that Dever had been angaged by him containing ago, but that he did not decide to make public the fact until he are a cross in a morning paper restoring to the effect that Mare Cassisty had suited the Jockey Club to allow him to have a vecation during the Brighton meetings.

"Was Mr. Cassidy considered for a resp-pointment at your teach?" Mr. Pitegerald was asked by The Str man.

Was select by Twe Str man.

"You can say that ever shies just summer the Brighton Beach Racing Association has been looking for a satisfactory starter to take Mr. Cassidy's place," was the reply. "I went West some time ago and after a talk with Mr. Irwyer I signed him to a contract. He will start the horses at our track under the Jockey Club's rules, which call for a flatfooted break. I think the racing public is well aware of Mr. Dwyar's ability without any praise from me."

Dwyer has been known for a long time in Dwyer has been known for a long time to the turf world as the Prince of Starters. He is the oldest handler of the barrier on the turf and has made his reputation chiefly on the Western tracks. Turfmen have put Jacob Holtmap in the same class with Dwyer, both of these officials working alternately in California last winter, where Dwyer re-ceived the palm on general results. Dwyer and Holtman each started forty-five days at Los Angeles and Oakland, and their work Los Angeles and Oakland, and their work with the flat footed break was of a high order of excellence. George Rose, one of the leading stockholders in the Los Angeles track, when he learned of Dwyer's engage-ment by the Brighton people, said:

"He is the best starter in America and the Los Angeles track stands ready to employ him all next winter. But I suppose Ton Williams of the Oakland track will want his services a part of the time. He will make a hit with the New York public, I'm sure." John A. Drake, who has seen Dwyer work, John A. Drake, who has seen buyer wors, declared that the Brighton management had made a ten strike. "Dwyer is a corking good starter," said the Chicago horseman, "and I know he will make good."

Many of the turfmen who raced at Los Many of the turfmen who raced at Los Angeles and Oakland lass winter when asked for an opinion said that Dwyer's work would be a revelation to local turf

"He has splendid control over the jockeys, The has spiendid control of the sale and one man, "and gets along nicely with them. He handles large fields with great skill and is always cool headed. He is as square as a die and has the respect of owners and trainers all over the country." Just why the Brighton management did not care to reengage Cassidy is not public property. Cassidy got into trouble with a turf writer at the Beach last summer and was fined $200 by the stewards of the meeting. His work with the gate at that track was not wholly satisfactory and there was some friction. Cassidy's friends have been making a plea for the walk up system all the season, setting forth as an argument that his work would be manifestly better. But the Jockey Club has remained firm in its determination to stick to the flat footed method. The engagement of Dwyer, who has made a success at this style of starting, just as C. J. Fitzgerald did when he was the Jockey Club's starter, will serve as an illustration of what can be done with the flat footed break when the man on the rail is in sympathy with it. The Broadway Stakes was worth $4,100 gross, of which $8,500 went to the winner, Ormondale, who ran in the name of the Or-mondale Stable, owned by W. O'B. MacDonough of California. Ormondale had not started since he won the Futurity last year from a rather inferior field. But he had been working well recently, turning miles in about 1:41, so that when he went to the post his stable connections, including Blair Painter, F. C. Bishop and Andrew Miller, bet heavily on hira. This combination has won all kinds of money on Miller's mounts and the horses trained by Tom Welsh this year, and the success of Ormondale was a genuine climax. T. J. Gaynor, the owner of Whimsical, came in for a scoring because he did not put up a boy like Martin, Knapp, Sewell or Garner, but he said that he expected Notter to fill the bill by taking Whimsical to the front. Whimsical did not have a chance to show her real speed, but at that it is a question whether with a perfect ride she could have beaten the winner, who hung up a new track record for a mile and a sixteenth, 1:45 3-5, with plenty to spare at the end. Previous winners of the Broadway Stakes were The Friar, Sly Fox Ethelbert, Sarmatian, The Parader, Old Eng-land, Irish Lad, Bryn Mawr, and Oxford. Irish Lad held the record for the race, 1:47.

The gross value of the Great American Stakes was nearly $13,000, of which about $11,000 went to the winner. Water Pearl won so easily that it was generally predicted that barring accidents, he would win many of the richest two-year-old stakes. He met Super-man at even weight, but gave ten pounds to all of the others. He was literally backed off the boards at the last moment, it being impossible to get better than even money a moment before the gate went up. Previous vinners of this event were St. Carlo, Russell, St. Florian, Sir Walter, Domino, Waltzer, Applegate, George Kessler, Previous, Jean Beraud, Vulcan, Prince Charles, Blue Girl, Dalesman, Broomstick, Song and Wine and Burgomaster. When Balzac fell in the steeplechase his colored rider, Rogan, was knocked completely out. At first the crowd thought that he had been killed outright, a bellef that was intensified when a Pink waved a signal for the track ambulance. But Rogan finally came to and was all right a half hour later. No jumping race seen here in years was pro-ductive of such farcical results. The books broke even on this race, for Balzac and Paul Jones were about evenly backed. Shillelah, Westover, The Bachelor, Passe Partout, Miss Mitchell, Adjidaumo, The Ragged Cavalier and Hylas were previous winners of this event. of this event.

Edith James, the winner of the first race, ran in the name and colors of John Howard, a newcomer on the turf. She carried the right money and the ring received a hard drubbing. The bookmakers got it all kinds of ways all the afternoon. They lost heavily on Water Pearl's success, while the success of Ormondale, Halifax, Sir Toddington and The Belle of Brighton made them pay out thousands of dollars. David Gideon and his followers won a bunch on The Belle of Brighton, but the really smart money went on Garters in this event.

Horses that carried No. 1 on their saddle cloths were remarkably successful. Edith James, Water Pearl, Ormondale and Sir Toddington, each at the top of the programme, won, while Russell T. ran second.

James R. Keene expressed indignation yesterday at the fake stories concerning

"They are absolutely untrue. Sysonby. Sysonby. "They are absolutely untrue," said Mr. Keene, warmly, "and the circulation of them undoubtedly hurt the sale of my horses to-day. I cannot understand how such yarns can be concected without an attempt being made at verification."

Hallfax and Handzarfa, who ran in the fifth race, are both by Randael out of Elzarra. At one period of the race they were running close together. Albert Simons announced yesterday that his good five-year-old horse Wotan, by Wagner, was dead. Just after the fifth race the Pinks found a man so well steeped in the stuff that both cheers and stupedes that he was carried bodily across the lawn to the caboose, where he was turned over to the Coher Island police. He revived for a monent, and tried to bite a piece out of a sleady a head.

There was a simultaneous announcement yesterday at Englewood and Dyker Meadow that a third team match had been arranged on a neutral course to settle the issue between the two clubs. It will be played at the Garden City Golf Club links on next Saturday. In the match at Dyker the home guard won by 12 to 8, and a week ago at Englewood the Jerseymen won by 12 to 5. On the aggregate scores Englewood had the better of the matches by 20 to 17, but the margin is too close to satisfy either club. Now, for the third and decisive match, each club will muster its best players and there will be at least twenty-five on each team. Last season, to settle similar home-and-home victories, the Garden City course was the neutral ground for the Eastern Parkway and Marine and Field and the Dyker Meadow and Nassau tegms, but from the even merit of the players and the number to take part Saturday's match will be the greatest "rubber" ever decided on the famous links.

The only set won by the Kings County players was the first in the doubles. There was a good turnout to see the matches, there being the usual good Satthe matches, there being the usual good Saturday crowd at the club. The results were:

Singles.—Charles M. Bull. Jr.. Crescent A. C., defeated H. L. Westfall, Kings County L. T. C. 7-5, 6-4; W. A. Campbell. Crescent A. C., defeated Henry Mollenhauer. Kings County L. T. C. 6-8, 6-1.

Doubles.—C. M. Bull. Jr., and W. A. Campbell Crescent A. C., defeated H. L. Westfall and H. Mollenhauer. Kings County L. T. C. 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, p. The New York L. T. C. earned a victory by two to one in their matches with the Knickerbooker F. C. at the latter's grounds in Flatbush. Morris Clark of the New York club was beaten by H. S. Roberts. There was a great fight in the doubles. The Knickerbocker pair after winning the first set had the second at 5-3 and looked to be winners. Good lobbing and smashing gave Bryan and Clark the points necessary to pull thom up and eventually to take the set. The same conditions obtained in the third set, but again the New Yorkers were steady enough to win. The scores:

Singles.—T. R. Pell, New York L. T. C., defeated Hugh B. Allen. Knickerbocker F. C. 6-4, 6-2, H. S. Roberts. Knickerbocker F. C. 6-4, 6-2, H. S. Roberts. Knickerbocker F. C. 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

Doubles.—R. T. Bryan and Morris S. Clark, New York L. T. C., defeated Hugh B. Allen and H. S. Roberts. Knickerbocker F. C., 6-5, 6-4.

The matches between Hamilton Grange and the Staten Jaland C. and L. T. C. resultation. urday crowd at the club. The results were:

The matches between Hamilton Grange and the Staten Island C. and L. T. C. resulted in a draw. The clubs won one apiece in the singles, but the rain stopped the doubles. The results were: Merrill Hall, Hamilton Grange L. T. C. defeated B. K. Robinson, Staten Island, 6-2 6-2; S. N. Boyd, Staten Island, defeated Arthur M. Lovibond, Hamil-ton Grange L. T. C. 2-6 7-6, 6-4.

The New York A. C. again defaulted, this time to the Brooklyn T. C.

This railroad will run northeasterly from Name City (population, 7,000 on the Bering Sea coast. Alaska to interior working mines, and will further develop an exceedingly rich mining country. It opens a territory not supplied by any railroad. It can be operated all the year. Its constructive features are simple, insuring rapid construction and low cost of maintenance. This railroad parallels a much used trail, which he people of Nome least summer petitioned the United States Government to make into a wagon road slowing the great need for better means of transportation in this direction.

New Equipment and Construction Material are mostly on the ground, and the roadbed practically ready for laying track. This railroad is built to make accessible private mining property. The $50,000.00 required is to complete and operate railroad commenced last year. If completed by August. Stock

Nearly $50,000,000.00 gold in five years, approximately half the output of all Alaska (now third on the list of gold-producing States and Territories), from this district, and the Seward Peninsula not commenced to be worked! $25,000,000.00 of this output came from within 10 miles of this railway.
